

Zama Housing Times

An Update of Housing Issues and Happenings

Appearance of Family Quarters

Yes, it's that time of the year again! The weather is getting hotter, the grass is getting greener and taller, and the shrubbery is getting bushier and bushier day by day.

With all of this happening faster than you can blink an eye, it is time to pull out your Housing Occupant Handbook and Command Policy #55, which were a part of the information packet you received from housing when you first arrived. Don't worry, if you need another one, please visit the Family Housing Management Branch and obtain another copy.

Most of the deficiencies that are cited are covered in the handbook. They can be avoided by adherence to the instruction in Command Policy #55 and/or the occupant handbook. Every member of the Camp Zama Community is treated as a professional! Let your professionalism, leadership, integrity, and pride be displayed for your community by the appearance of your housing unit and the area surrounding your unit.

Letters to the Editor

If you have questions, comments, or suggestions pertaining to housing, please drop us a line at Commander, USAG-J, Unit 45006, ATTN: APAJ-GH-PW-H, APO AP 96343-5006 or e-mail Elaster.Nickelberry@zama.army.mil
